

H.R. 443 - to provide for the conveyance of certain property from the United States to the Maniilaq Association located in Kotzebue, Alaska.

The bill would convey 8 acres of federal land and three adjacent lots to the Maniilaq Association. The Maniilaq Association is an American Indian nonprofit organization involved in local issues, including health care and housing. The association recently constructed a long-term care facility on land owned by the Indian Health Service in Kotzebue, Alaska. The federal government recommended that the association take possession of the land, in addition to several adjacent lots where housing for the employees of the health care facilities are located.

This legislation would not have an impact on the federal budget.

The bill was approved by a vote of 407 – 4.
